

12th Annual Whole Grains for Growing Brains

The Great Harvest Bread Co. of Denver (765 S Colorado Blvd) has lost our lease and must move and transition ownership. Before we go, we are proud to hold our 12th and final fundraiser for homeless students in Denver Public Schools. Every penny raised from now through October will once again be donated to the DPS Homeless Education Network. This under-funded department of our local school district provides transportation, clothes, food and other essentials and support for students faced with homelessness as they fight to obtain an education and end the cycle of homelessness. Owner of the Great Harvest Bread Co. of Denver and father of four DPS students, Matt Salis, is available to answer your questions and take your donations at 303-778-8877, at denver@greatharvest.com (send us an email and you can complete your donation securely online), or live in the bakery from 6am to 3pm M-F and 8am-3pm Saturdays. Please help us spread the word, and thanks for your support. Let's make this the best Whole Grains for Growing Brains ever!
